Summary

National speaker since 1992 on the topic of teaching reading to students with Down syndrome and other developmental delays.

Award-winning author, educator, reading consultant for Down syndrome, parent of an adult son with Down syndrome.

Founder of the publisher Special Reads for Special Needs (2000), online at www.specialreads.com. Special Reads provides emergent reader books and materials specifically designed to overcome the developmental challenges of individuals of all ages who are struggling to learn to read.

Motivating, inspiring, enthusiastic speaker for educator and parent groups for over 20 years, known for presenting workshops which provide on-the-spot knowledge tools that the attendees can immediately put into use.

Private tutor for students with Down syndrome in reading and handwriting, working closely with the needs of both student and parents to ensure progress. Sensitive to the wide range of learning styles of students with developmental delays, and attentive to tailoring a specific learning plan for each student.

Dedicated educator focused on building each student's confidence and success, as well as holding students to firm guidelines, essential to working successfully with non-compliance, distractibility, and behavioral issues.
